WEIDMAN CHURCH DEDICATION SUNDAY

This coming Sunday, Nov. 29, is a memorable date for members and the pastor of the Weidman Methodist Church, with Dedication Services at 3 o'clock in the afternoon to observe the status of paid-up bonds which made possible the new additions.

Included in the new facilities are Sunday School classrooms, study rooms, and rest-room accommodations. All rooms of the new addition have been in use since their completion.

Rev. Williams Reynders has designed a unique program style for the services, and it is in keeping with this, and to offer our congratulations to the pastor and the very hard-working members of the church, that the Weidman Messenger this week is printing and featuring some old-time pictures and stories.

WILDERNESS TRAGEDY: A WOUNDED DOE

Ray Tilmann and Jim Palmer discovered a wounded doe on the townline road north and west of Weidman Monday afternoon.

They called Sheriff Ray Martin for instructions, and were told to kill the badly hurt animal. They were instructed to take the carcass to a processing plant in Mt. Pleasant under labeling of the Welfare Department, with packaging marked for Broomfield Memorial Hospital.

Too bad. There are plenty of good young bucks in this area. A trigger-happy hunter shot first and then looked to see if there were horns.

Another doe lost to a careless hunter.

ZIP CODE FACILITATES MAIL DELIVERY, SAYS POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT

A new "scheduled delivery" system now permits overnight delivery of ZIP coded parcel post five days a week between Weidman and all postoffices within a 22, - 000 square mile area of Southern Michigan, Postmaster Harry Herman said this week.

The delivery area includes all of Southern Michigan from the line Bay City-Mt. Pleasant-Muskegon, except the counties of Huron and Sanilac in the northeast and a portion of Berrien County in the southwest. The area includes over 460 post offices and over 7,200,000 people, nearly 90% of the state's population, the post office statement said.

Deputy Postmaster General Frederick C. Belen discussed details of the plan and demonstrated the actual operation at a luncheon meeting in Detroit Monday.

Extensive testing has assured the success of this dramatic new program, which in effect offers "first rate service" for fourth-class mail, according to Postmaster Herman.

Mailing deadlines for the service will be 5 p.m. in Weidman, the time when lobby windows close.

"The post office Department found, through extensive study," Postmaster Herman said, "that one of the major problems of the parcel post service has been the lack of dependability of delivery.

For these reasons, the Post Office said, it has developed the concept of Scheduled Delivery.

In Michigan Scheduled Delivery area, parcels will be transported to the destination post office over night and will be delivered to the addressee the next scheduled parcel delivery. In most cases this will mean next-day parcel service, Postmaster Herman explained, because parcel post deliveries are made five days out of the week.

ICE FISHING SEASON OPENS FOR EARLY RECORD

Ice fishing on the Weidman Pond opened Monday morning, when George Skinner discovered there were two inches of ice on the Pond, and took his ice-pole and tried it out.

He found the fish not biting in the morning, and also found weeds very much in the way.

But we believe this is something of a record for ice fishing here.

A special meeting of the Weidman Business Association will be scheduled during December, according to Mitchell McArthur, president, to discuss the weed problem in the Weidman Pond. It is expected a professional weed control man will be present.

All fishermen interested in the Weidman Pond will be cordially invited to attend and hear the pros and cons of better fishing in the famed Weidman Pond.

Fight local hunters are back from the Walt Smith-George McClain hunting cabin in Iron County, where they report a very successful season.

In the first two and a half days of hunting they had four bucks and one big doe hung up. (The party had five doe licenses.)

This is in wild hunting areas, not in controlled hunting.

The successful hunters were George McClain, Sr., and Dallas of Barryton, George McClain, Jr., Walt Smith and Dan Wernette of Weidman, and Louis Starr of Dearborn.

The others in the party saw deer but failed to connect.

ITEMS FROM THE WEIDMAN HERALD, 1896

Here are a few items from the Weidman Herald, of date July 24, 1896, C. F. Messmore, Editor and Publisher, "Published every Friday at Weidman, Mich."

The priceless copy of the newspaper is from an heirloom scrapbook of the Middlesworth family, largely put together by Eva Middlesworth and covers an era of over 68 years.

This copy of the Weidman Herald was Vol. 1, No. 3, meaning that this was the third week of its publication. The editor printed some comments from other publishers to whom he sent copies as "Exchanges". Here's one from the Northwestern Tribune:

Just as we expected: Weidman has a newspaper. It would not be long before it did, for the town is making a wonderful stride toward bigness. The Weidman Herald lies upon our exchange table quite lively and neatly printed. From it we learn that Aken Bell and tribe came out of their woods haunts long enough on the Fourth (of July) to give a war dance and the "great crowd of people fairly scrambled over each other to get a look at a real Indian war dance.

And from the Edmore Journal: The Weidman Herald is on our table. This is a new paper started at Weidman by C. F. Messmore, who recently suspended publication of the Sheridan News.

From the Gratiot County News: C. F. Messmore, who went out of business at Sheridan two weeks ago, has started the Weidman Herald.

W. M. Garbett advertised Horse-Shoeing and General Blacksmithing. New work and repairing (of) Wagons, Buggies, Cutters, Carts.

O. D. Leach advertised Carpet and Rug Weaving. Also cotton or woolen cloth. Prices reasonable for different kinds of work.

WE LEARN ABOUT MEASURING LARD

We heard from that pop-off in his column about measuring lard or making pies. Here's the first letter we received:

omnie:
To measure cold lard, you take cup or 2 cup measure, fill half all with cold water, then add shortening to top. Drain the water off and you have either 1/2 or 1 cup of shortening left.
Or: for 1 cup lard, take 1 cup measure, fill 1/2 full of water, add lard to fill, drain and take 1/2 cup lard out and do again for cup.
Simple.

Well, we went to an expert on cooking and asked Daisy Embrey how in the dickens you pack one cup of lard down on one cup of cold water.
"You don't," Daisy said. "The lard, no matter how you put it in, displaces the water till the water flows even on the measure of the cup. You don't have to pack it down."

We were greatly relieved. We don't like to make pies for George for dinner, the pie-eatin'-est man in the county, once in a while, and the procedure seemed to us downright vicious in its waste of time and energy by the Little Roman.

Daisy also said she believes that some companies pack lard in measured amounts, in boxes or such. We still think that's the end for dumbbells like us, who we've three days out of the week pick up the remnants of the use, cook decent meals and sayhap do a little baking.

and we got a very nice letter from Helen (Mrs. Gerald) McArthur of Walled Lake, with directions approximately the same, it with perhaps a little clearer teaching of the laws of physics whatever it is that makes lard displace water in a measuring cup.

and yes, we tried this method, and it is much better than the cooking-down contortions we had hitherto gone through, but it still saves the measuring cup slightly clogged with lard.

and we can hear the practical housewives' chorus: "Oh, don't buy such a fussy old maid!" But we shall buy lard in one-cup measurements the minute I find some store.)

anyhow, after we received Helen McArthur's good letter, we called Leon and asked, "Does Jerry like pies?" And Leon laughed, "I said, No, he was sure Jerry didn't, but that he probably dictated the advice on the grounds science. Jerry is a projects en-missile projects. He flies all over the country, Leon said, from one missile project to another.

He taught science and chemistry in Highland Park Junior College ten years before entering industry on the scientific side. He is another Weidman boy of whom we can all be proud.

Here is Helen's letter:
Dear Connie:

Jerry says to write and tell you to use the "water displacement" method to measure your shortening.

Fill up the "emptiness" with water, then put in shortening until the water comes up to the full measure. (For 3/4 cup, fill cup 1/4 with water, then shortening until the water comes up to full measure.)

No doubt you will receive this advice many times over, Anna Nason was teaching it to her Home Ec girls in the old Weidman High School as far back as 1937.

But keep on with the apple pies!
Helen Boyd McArthur.

Further advice from Jerry: For 1 cup, get a 2-cup measure. Then, quote, "the water will easily pour off and leave you just the correct measure of shortening."

Dear Friend:

We left Michigan (Farmington) Friday morning, the 6th, and arrived here (in Tampa, Fla.,) on Sunday.

We had a nice trip. I enjoyed the trip through the Cumberland Mountains.

The folks where I stay are very nice and I manage to keep busy. Best wishes to the folks back there.

Did you get the wedding picture of my son printed? If you did, will you send me a copy of the paper, please. You were going to send the paper, too, weren't you? Sincerely, Blanche Carr, Tampa, Route 1, Box 283-H, Florida 33612.
