THE QUEEN CAME BACK

Our column this week is for those people who live under the rule of their household pets, and who willingly become slaves to the caprices of their cats, dogs, parakeets, and such.

George and Connie Skinner have been under the rule of a cat and a dog for eight and a half years. The cat rules with an iron will; the dog is mainly a nuisance and a good watcher-outer for strangers coming on our place especially after dark.

Our cat is our real boss, in our house. She has long black-and-white hair, and she is beautiful, and she knows it. We call her the Queen, and she accepts the title and makes the most of it.

She is also a clown, and she understands that, too, and loves to ham it up during her tricks she condescends to do for us.

She is a tyrant, scolding all but the very best in food: No milk, if you please! Only half and half. And fresh-caught fish, raw, not over a day old in the refrigerator. Fish cleaned as for the Big Folks, too, and cut up into little cat-bites.

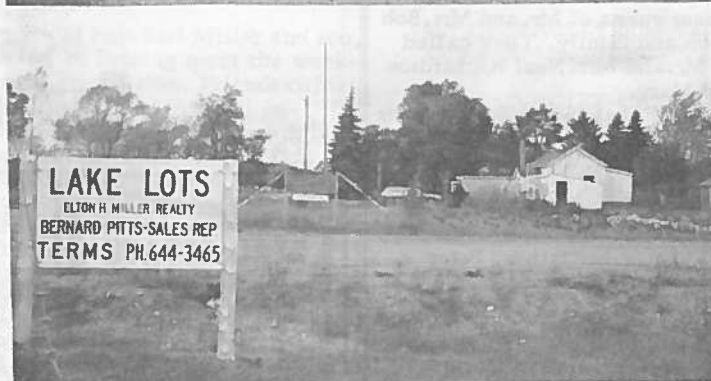

Well, we admitted she is a tyrant.

She demands her go-on-to-bed feeding of fish, evenings, and then stalks out the living-room door, to reappear next morning sitting in the dining-room window, waiting for us to get up and let her in.

She has breakfast with us. One corner of the table is reserved for her, to stand up and reach for food-morsels placed on the very edge; and she stands up, making a big deal of it, clawing at the bit of food saying she can't possibly reach it; until she's through clowning and picks up the morsel, inspects it while she holds it in her paw, then drops down to the floor, to eat it or reject it. Besides meat, she will eat pancakes with syrup, and, in her own dish, corn flakes with half-and-half and sugar.

Last Thursday evening she left the living room on schedule for her night out; but Friday morning there was no Queen in the dining-room window. There was no Queen anywhere around the whole of Roe's Acres, which

SIGNS OF LIFE IN WEIDMAN--Here are more of our Signs of Life in the village. The big Ojibwa sign stands at the intersection of Woodruff and Airline Roads in Weidman, and is visible from the far south edge of town. Our modern little restaurant in its brand-new building has adequate signs to inform the traveler. In the lower view, Bernard Pitts' sign for Lake of the Hills stands at the entrance of the road to the dam, on Lake of the Hills Plat No. 2, the Fred Wilcox place. Back of Bernard's sign is a sign for "Lake of the Hills, Plat No. 2, Dam Site," but it is painted in dark blue and red, and our camera wouldn't pick it up.

NO NEWS LETTERS FROM LAKE ROUTE--AGAIN!

Again this week we received no news letters mailed on the Lake Routes. This has happened several times, and the Post Office gives us little encouragement.

The Post Office says our Lake address news writers will have to mail their letters a day earlier--an impossibility.

Our news writers are most faithful, and everyone mails letters on Monday. We can see no reason why the Messenger should not receive news letters Tuesday if they are mailed Monday morning on the Lake Routes.

We want our writers to know we have done our best to get their news in the paper the week it is written.

Editor's Column

we searched thoroughly, as we searched along the roadside for a Queen killed by a passing car.

She was gone all day Friday and Friday night; but Saturday morning she sat in the dining-room window glaring at us because we were late arising.

She refused to say where she had been; although her rather fat stomach was rounded out suspiciously. We figure she was out hunting Thursday night, caught a rabbit, and spent the next 24 hours on an eating spree.

For she is a good hunter, despite her age of 10 years and more. Besides her overbearing personality, which we can't keep house without, she keeps us free of rats and mice.

Like we said, this is for pet-lovers only. Sorry about any others, this week. Seemed like we just had to write about Boots, the Queen.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN WHALEY
Miss Barbara Battle and John Whaley were married Oct. 5 in the Weidman United Methodist Church at 4 o'clock p.m., with Rev. James Linton officiating. The happy young couple are making their home at Chippewa Lake, where the bridegroom is employed.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father, Donald Battle. Her gown was of white satin with lace overlay and train, and long-styled lace sleeves. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Barbara Baxter was her maid of honor, with Diane Whaley her bridesmaid and Anita Graham junior bridesmaid. Both wore dresses of avocado green, and carried colonial bouquets of yellow pompoms and ivy.

The flower girl, small Shelley Austin, wore a dress of the same color as the bridesmaids, and carried a nosegay bouquet.

Walt Hazen of Chippewa Lake was best man, with Dan Metcalf and Donnie and Craig Battle as groomsmen. Ushers were Jim Whaley and Buddy Davy.

The bride's mother wore a beige suit with dark brown accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a navy dress with yellow scarf and navy accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow sweetheart roses.

The church was decorated with altar baskets of white gladioli and yellow pompoms.

The church was filled to capacity with wedding guests, and the reception in the evening, at the VFW Hall in Mecosta, was likewise very well attended.

Barbara has passed the state examinations in cosmetology, and will be employed in the Northland Beauty Salon in Big Rapids.
