ORDINARY CITIZENS ARE CONCERNED FOR THEIR BELOVED COUNTRY

We are becoming increasingly aware of the deep concern of the "ordinary citizen" for his native land, the country we have all taken for granted as the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave.

Besides the war in Vietnam, a major concern of all, there is the problem of universal disrespect for law and behavior, and outright flouting of common decencies as we have known them.

Out here in the country we are suffering increasing vandalism, the most senseless of lawless acts. Crime in rural areas is rising. Our locked doors at night are not security against marauders, and a gun in the house is to be forbidden.

Communist-led "movements" among students, unions, "poor people," are being talked about by the ordinary citizen, and some ordinary citizens are already talking of taking their families and "heading for the hills", whatever they mean by that except possible temporary escape from violence.

We are not so pessimistic, ourselves. We saw a small line in the Reader's Digest, quoted from the Kansas City Star:

"Between now and November, the straw polls will proliferate. Then the grass roots will take over."

The grass roots are you and we, the people who have worked and are working, for a decent life and who are fed up with the Socialists and Communists leading our country since 1932.

Like the man said, in November the grass roots will take over.

CARELESSNESS OR VANDALISM DESTROYED THESE TREES--On the Harry Herman place in Weidman. The Weidman Firemen answered a call Saturday afternoon and put out a roaring blaze with difficulty, but they put it out. Fire Chief Ed Fox said the fire apparently started from a bonfire or campfire on the shore of the Mill Pond north and west of the trees. According to theory, a spark must have landed among the pines on the north side and fire swept down the center of the large planting, fanned by a west wind. Around 1,000 beautiful big Scotch pines were destroyed.

"We planted about 5,000 pine trees 18 years ago," the Hermans, Harry and Virginia, told the Messenger reporter, "and we planted them for everyone to enjoy. They were a game refuge as well, harboring partridge, mourning doves and rabbits in good quantities."

Fourteen rows of the 20-foot pines were burned, with 10 rows remaining. The fire apparently raced from west to east straight down the length of the rows of trees, reducing the lovely pines to charred skeleton trees.

The Hermans were away from home at the time of the fire, spending the weekend camping at Ludington.

MARAUDING BEAR SHOT BY FAY FORBES MONDAY

Fay Forbes shot and killed a black bear Monday afternoon on his farm two miles northwest of Brinton, after the animal had created havoc with his herd of young cattle.

The bear was estimated at 200 pounds, about two and a half years old. Fay killed him with a deer rifle when he caught him disturbing a colt in a field.

Extensive scattering of his cattle both this year and last led Fay to go after the bear, finally. It was believed there may be others bears, possibly a female with cubs, in the area.

Bears have been marauding on Coldwater Township farms for several years. Last year Fay found his cows in five different fields after bears scattered the herd. This year nine young cows tore through the fence of their pasture, and one heifer was still missing Monday afternoon.

Fay notified the game warden at Mt. Pleasant, who notified Conservation officers at Gladwin. The Gladwin officer in charge at first told Fay he could not keep the bear, but later relented. The Conservation Department at first said officers would confiscate the carcass for analysis to find out why bears were attacking herds in Coldwater Township. After Fay pointed out that the meat would spoil and nothing would be gained by this procedure, the Conservation Department officer told Fay he could keep the bear for meat and hide.

It is most unusual for bears to endanger livestock or people, in this area. Usually a bear runs as fast in his direction as a human runs in his, on confrontation with each other.

It will be a week long remembered by many. Mr. Stansberry is due to be with us again in the summer of 1971, if the Lord is willing. ---0---
