ONE MORE ISSUE AND WE TAKE A VACATION!

Whee.

Just one more issue to get out--next week's--and Ye Ed and her faithful news writers will skip the following week and take a week's vacation.

Whee.

We'll give you the June 26 issue, which we'll combine with the July 3 issue--in other words, we skip the first week of July.

This is a twice-annual event for us, and we really need it. (The older we get, the more we need it.) We skip the first week of January, and the first week of July.

Always, during the last four or five weeks of a six-months' stretch, Ye Ed sort of sags, and this year we're right on schedule. When we sag, we're apt to make mistakes (which we loathe, in print), or skimp some feature we really should get in, or some other grubby shirking of duty as editor and publisher.

But--we'll get out next week's paper and take a rest. So will our news writers. But we'll be back for the July 10 issue, all of us. Better, we hope, for a rest.

Nobody gets vacation pay, on the Messenger, not even the editor. We just quit for a week, and that's that.

But all of us on the paper really do need a short rest twice a year, and now we're nearly there for the summer dropout.

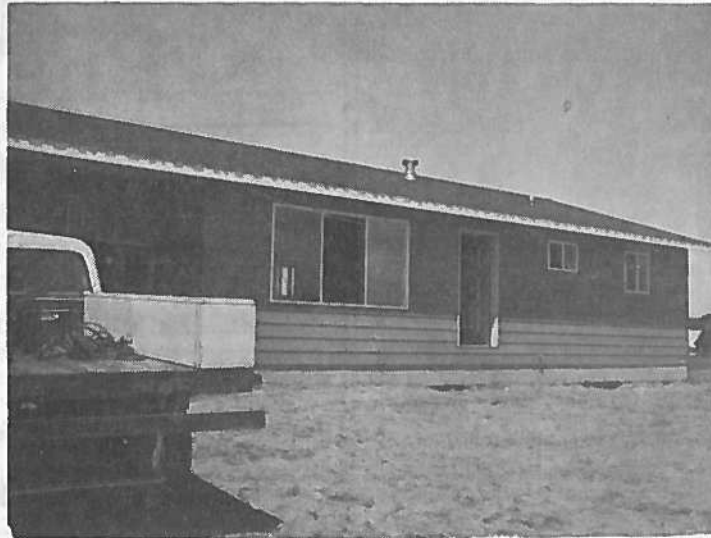

Whee.

We're indebted to Jack Bellows for some delightful wild strawberries he picks by the quart up on the hills on the Walt Smith acreage.

There's nothing quite like the taste of real wild strawberries, and it's been so long, we sort of thought they'd disappeared, with other wild treasures destroyed in the making of a lake on swamp lands and wildlife areas.

Jack said that Nina Carrick made him some wild strawberry jam, from some of his pickings, and that's another delicacy we've forgotten how to enjoy.

There's a lot of work in picking the little berries, lugging them home. "nicking them over." and HOUSING DEVELOPMENT IN WEIDMAN--Shown above is the second lovely modern home Dale Tilmann has built on what we used to know as the Dr. J.H. Clark place. The new house has been purchased (before completion) by Dale Simons of Barryton, who is the clock repairman at Jarrett's Jewelers in Mt. Pleasant, and husband of the former Mary Ellen Baxter, daughter of Mrs. Virginia Baxter.

The entire Clark property was platted into small lots when the Village of Weidman was platted by John S. Weidman, before the turn of the century. Today the lots must be larger, so the developer has simply put two of the original lots together to make one, thus satisfying state and regional specifications.

Excavation has been started on a new home for Russell Wilson, a former Weidman resident. (The Wilsons, in the early days, lived where Don Abbott's home now is.) The Wilsons will move to their beautiful new home, from rural Rosebush, as soon as the house is completed.

Dale and Russell Tilmann, sons of the Raymond Tilmanns of Beal City, bought and remodeled and enlarged the Drive In Restaurant three years ago, and their families helped run the operation. Dale is still owner, having leased it to the Ed Osborns.

Dale is doing all right on his big-scale purchase of the Clark acres. He is conducting a single-processing them into jam.

Minnie Roe used to make wild strawberry jam, and we still have her recipe--but we don't have the moral strength to go through what it takes to make it.

That's modern times--and old age.

BRINTON CEMETERY LOSES $2200.00 WORTH OF EQUIPMENT TO THIEVES

Thieves broke into the vault building at the North Brinton Cemetery Friday night and stole an Allis Chalmers tractor with lawn mower and bulldozer blade along with its loading plank, the whole kit valued at $2200.00.

Among other lesser items stolen were an old wood stove taken from another building at the cemetery.

Isabella County Sheriff's men are working on the case.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wilson were Friday evening callers of Mrs. Nina Forbes.

LIGHT INDUSTRY SITE SOLD BY LAKE ISABELLA

Lake Isabella Corporation has sold a building site for a light-industry plant, situated between the Richard and Jack Cook farms on Coldwater Road, South, it was learned this week.

The new manufacturing plant is now owned by the Randell Corporation, a new company, headquartered in Mt. Pleasant, with Lou Rostelli as president.

Unverified accounts have it the plant will manufacture stainless-steel cookware for restaurants, and will use the public runways at the Lake Isabella Airport, scheduled for great enlargement.

The company is expected to employ a good number of workers when the plant is completed.

FLORENCE SCHAFER WINS AWARD AT MT. PLEASANT

The Center for Human Development (formerly the Mt. Pleasant Home and Training School) has announced its second annual winner of the Dieter Award, Florence Schafer of rural Weidman. Mrs. Schafer has been employed at Cottage 5 at the Center since January, 1968.

The award was established by the Michigan Association of Retarded Citizens in Memory of John B. Dieter, director of the Department of Mental Health's Division of Mental Retardation at the time of his accidental death several years ago.

To be eligible, an employee must be a direct care worker who has contributed significantly to the care and over-all development of a resident or group of residents at the Center.

Mrs. Schafer will receive $100 and will represent the Center at MARC's annual conference at Sugar Loaf Village at Cedar, Mich., June 26-28.

The Golden Wedding anniversary reception for Pat and Harriet Dillenbeck Sunday was very well attended, despite the very stormy day, with lots of rain. The party was held in the home of Gerald and Mabel Dent instead of at their private park as planned, but everyone enjoyed a wonderful day.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martin returned Saturday evening from a week's stay at their cabin at Copemish. Sunday guests at the Martin home were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garner, Mrs. Lena Martin and Brenda, Mrs. Jane Jones, Mrs. Loretta Dehkes and daughter and Mrs. Bob Byron and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Oplinger were Thursday dinner guests at the Earl Oplinger home, celebrating Sterling and Violet's wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Ed McDonald and family were Sunday afternoon guests of the Earl Oplingers.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Thompson went to the Bishop Airport in Flint a week ago Sunday to meet their cousin, Mrs. Wilma Baxter, of Portland, Ore. She spent the week with them, and visited other relatives. Mr. and Mrs. John Baxter spent a few days in Flint and then joined his mother at the Thompson home. They all attended a party for the Thompson and Denslow cousins at the Masonic Hall in Remus Saturday afternoon. The Baxters left to go home from the Flint Airport Sunday. It had been 10 years since Mrs. Baxter had been here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Thompson and their guests spent Wednesday afternoon and evening with the Chuck Wilson family in Grand Rapids. Mr. and Mrs. Herb De Witt were callers at the Thompson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Cochran and Charlene Gross and Robbie were Sunday callers at the Gerald Losey home.

Mrs. Opal Denslow and Mrs. Eva Denslow enjoyed Sunday evening luncheon with Mrs. Margaret Denslow.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Oplinger and Kenny and Eddie and Miss Sandy Dutcher and Miss Janet Beers were Sunday dinner guests of the Sterling Oplingers, celebrating Father's Day and Eddie's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Swartz of Pinconning were Monday callers at the Paul Miller home.

Mrs. Opal Denslow and Mrs. Margaret Denslow attended Open House honoring Mr. and Mrs. Pat Dillenbeck on their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, at the Gerald Dent home, and later attended the 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fitzgerald at Remus.

Mrs. Opal Denslow and Mr.

and Mrs. Clayton Beutler attended the funeral of their cousin, Don Labo. in Flint, Saturday. He was the son of Ray Labo of the Barryton area.

Callers of Mrs. Eva Denslow during last week were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Merritt of Florida and Mrs. Hattie Losey and Jessie Rosencrantz.

Callers of Mrs. Flora Wood during the week were Mr. and Mrs. Mack Denslow, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Swartz of Roscommon, Mrs. Helen Geasler of Remus, Mrs. Bessie Weeks and friend, and Mrs. Iva Staley of Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. Benn Johnson took their son, Kevin, to a music camp near Jackson Sunday. Their oldest boy is at a band camp at Kansas City, Kansas. Both boys will be home this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dent called on her mother Tuesday, and Mabel called to see her doctor Thursday.

Mrs. Evelyn Roberts and daughter, Judy, and Mrs. Geraline Johnson and Sherri and Sandra were Sunday guests of their folks, Gerald and Mabel Dent. The Dents were Wednesday supper guests at the Krueger home.

Floyd Dutcher was a Monday caller at the Charles Losey home. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dutcher of Cadillac were also Monday callers. Mrs. Violet Oplinger, Mrs. Leah Scharrer and I spent Tuesday morning with Hattie. Clayton Dutcher called Wednesday. Saturday callers were Mr. and Mrs. Theron Merrihew, Don Merrihew, and Greg and Brenda, and Harold Losey. Sunday dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Theron Merrihew, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Losey and Nancy, Patti, Gary and Beth, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Chapman and Chad, and Tim Jackson. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Losey were supper guests.

George Miller was a Sunday dinner guest of his folks, the Elwood Millers. George called on Frances Tranbarger and Connie Skinner in Weidman Friday evening.

Many friends and relatives from Grand Rapids, Mt. Pleasant, Niles, Mich., Saginaw, Lansing and Weidman met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Fox to congratulate Terry Green on his graduation and two-year scholarship to Ferris State College. All enjoyed a sumptuous dinner.

NEWS NOTES

Mrs. Tom Flower and children of Petersburg, Mich., are spending a couple of weeks with Mr. and Mrs. David Flower, while Tom is at Graveling with the National Guard.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Green of Wheeler were Sunday guests of their sister, Mrs. Alton Allen. They also visited her Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. Shirlev Nowland is in CMC Hospital for treatment of blood clots.

WHO CAN NAME THE LADIES IN THIS OLD PHOTO?-- Grace Woolworth Watson of Saginaw gave us the old print, and she named a few of the women: Lulu (Houck) Thompson (Mrs. Erie), Ruby Houck Rickett (Mrs. Bill), Mrs. George Drallette, Mrs. James A. Cliff, Mrs. Mabel Mitchell (Mrs. Floyd), Mrs. M.D. Rand, Mrs. George Bryant, Mrs. Arthur Fleming, Mrs. David Flower, Mrs. Dawson, Vina (Flower) Rufner. Among the children were Glenn and Genevieve Scott. Grace couldn't say, nor could we, what the occasion might have been, nor what year the picture was taken. The locale was the Woolworth home, now the home of the Gary McArthur family.

HERE ARE SOME PRICELESS CLIPPINGS FROM OTHER TIMES IN THIS AREA

In a letter to Mrs. Clarissa Loeding at the Weidman Library, Mrs. Ernie DeHart of Coalmont, Tenn., says this:

Dear Madam:

My husband has been much interested in the items in the Weidman Messenger about the development of the new library. He has several clippings about the olden days in his home town area. If you find them of any value for your purpose you are welcome to them. If you cannot use them, feel free to destroy them.

He has a scrapbook of other clippings that his mother, Mrs. Seneca DeHart, saved over the years. If you would like to have it, he would be willing to send it to you.

Ernie sends greetings and best wishes to any who may remember him.

So.... Mrs. Loeder brought us a batch of clippings Mrs. DeHart sent her, and we found them fascinating. We think you will, too, and we'll print them now and then as time and space permit.

Here's one, apparently printed in Rolla Roe's Weidman Messenger before the 1920s, we'd gather, from the names in it:

"TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO" (Editor's Note: Remember, this is 21 years before the 1920s.)

The other day J. W. Omans dug up an old watch case in Lant Boyer's garden. From its rust and ancient appearance it must have been dropped there when the town was young.

Let us recall a day of those old times, and see what Weidman was like.

The sawmill was running at full blast, with John S. Weidman as owner. His office was just west of a boarding house that occupied the place where Floyd Mitchell's residence now is. (Editor's Note: We think that's the Don Stanley place, today.)

From 40 to 50 men worked in this mill, which cut 45,000 feet a day, and about 20 in Adams & Acker's shingle mill.

The 6 o'clock whistle has blown and here comes the gang, hungry and happy.

There's Charley Pierce, foreman. He is heading for his home where Robert Allen now lives. (Ed's Note: It's the Buster Smith home now.)

Behind him are Jos. Booth, scaler; Tom Johnson, head sawyer; Tom Tribbey, filer; John Tribbey setter; Verne Long, tail setter; Jacob Kunkel and James Belknap, lumber pilers; Dan Carpenter, blacksmith; Gene Clark, head packer.

Fred Haskins was out driving somewhere on the river. Walter Pierce and Amos Decker were coming in from the woods.

Amos lumbered the place now known as the Pritchard farm.

Now the whistle sounds at the shingle mill. Oscar Adams and George Acker owned it and Blondie Miller was head sawyer. The employees of this mill join the others.

"Who's that feller that's bought out Max Joerar?" asked Charley Pierce of Gene Clark.

"That's a feller named Drallette."

"Where's he from?"

"Eaton County."

"They say he's bought two hogs already. Max says he'll go broke in two weeks."

But he didn't. George Drallette was starting in on the spot where his store now stands. (Ed's note: Now it's the Raymond Shook building, recently vacated by Baumann's IGA Store.)

Ad Scott was selling general merchandise in the store where he now is. (Today it's Abbott's Furniture.) Wm. Dawson lived upstairs in the Scott building and ran a shoe shop across the street. Next to him and where S. M. Rau's hardware now stands, a man named Lenox had another shoe shop.

John Damon had a general store where Middlesworth's now is. (It's Clark's Market, today.) Mr. Middlesworth came to town that spring and bought the building where he now lives.

G. C. Fisher was selling hardware in the same building he now occupies.

Royal Gibbs ran a hotel in the building now filled with Rand's furniture. It stood on the lot where Chas. Woolworth lives (Gary McArthur lives there now), for in the early days it was thought that street would be Main Street and the hotel had to be moved later. Steve Hundt had a tin shop in the building where the little school is.

Wm. Dellsworth ran a barber shop.

Frank Sweeney had a store where Chas. Woolworth's store building stands. (Today, the Weidman post office.)

Mr. Burdick sold furniture where the drug store now is. (Today it's Bud's Party Store.)

Peter Aylsworth was building a hotel where John Otterbine's barbershop now is.

Mrs. Wm. Cole ran a millinery store where the hotel is today. (Today it's a gas station in the middle of town.)

H. H. Parsons was postmaster and grocer where the Messenger is printed. (Across from the Idle Hour Bar.)

Wally Beebe had a blacksmith shop just west of the railroad. Over there then were exactly four buildings, and a son of "grandpa" Garbet was putting up a house 'way out in the burnings for a man named Grubb. It was started one morning and was completed at night. Frank Cross lives in it now. It was known later as the Bailey house.

In the Editor's Mail

Dear Connie,
Greetings on a beautiful June day.

My time has run out and I still admire and desire your "Messenger," although I seldom see a familiar name, as I am getting old--will be 80 in a few weeks. Hard for me to write letters.

1974 was cruel, I had four deaths within six months. First, my husband, then my 16-year-old great-grandson; after that, two of my three sons-in-law.

Life is lonely, but I am still serving our Lord, with the help of my daughters and grandchildren.

Two of my great-grandsons and two grandsons are in the service of our country, and I expect to be a great-great-grandmother in a few weeks. Old age has caught up with me.

My love and best wishes.
